As a second-generation broadcaster, Williams spent most of her younger years working at Oklahoma-based Omni Media Group, owned and operated by her father, broadcasting legend Doug Williams.

Intrigued by various facets of the business, she went on to work in affiliate sales at ABC Radio Networks, and later served as Regional Sales Manager for SiteShell Corp., Account Executive at Radio & Records magazine, Vice President of Sales and Marketing for News/Talk/Sports MediaOnline and president and owner of Omni Media Group in Woodward, OK. The broadcasting corporation included radio stations KWOX-FM, KMZE-FM, KZZW-FM, as well as KOMI-TV.

Williams graduated from Oklahoma State University's Journalism and Broadcasting School and was recognized as a distinguished alumni in the 2021 College of Arts & Science Hall of Fame ceremony. Go Pokes!

In addition to devoting her career to her love of radio, Williams enjoys spending time with her daughter, Drew.
